

KELLY RENEE VIZZINI

AUTHOR, INTUITIVE, REIKI MASTER, AND PET COMPANION

Kelly Renee Vizzini is the founder of Dream Pet Care LLC, a pet companion and animal Reiki company that builds amazing connections with the animals that find their way to her.

Kelly sees their soul, feels their love, and meets them where they are by building a relationship based on love, care, and respect for who they are now. Each level of connection is entirely led through the animal family member's choice of what engagement looks like to he or she.

Many of the experiences with the pets and animals include:

- The elder animal walking through the gamut of age:
Gazing at walls, engaging less with family, walking or activity needs changing, needing more support and feeling lost in the shuffle of life.
- The caregiver animal sibling:
As the sibling to an elder or ill pet, they may begin appearing more needy or acting more anxious as a brother or sister has accidents or other things occurring that are categorized as bad or misbehaving;
- The sibling that is walking their journey solo:
Requiring more one-on-one attention than previously, napping more frequently while I am there as they are now always on duty, needing more assurance with sounds.
- The misunderstood
The hidden feline, the feral cat, the canine that is in a home for the first time alone, and the canine with ultra-sensitive hearing.

Many of her client situations have included:

- Complex relationship situation among the animal siblings
- Merging of a feline family with a canine family
- Balancing the needs of the elder and younger siblings
- Understanding the human effect on animal behavior changes through intuitive guidance
- Utilizing animal communication/intuitive guidance to assist with reoccurring animal health sensitivities and issues.
- Building trust with a canine who had not been with a stranger alone
- Building trust with a feral feline family
- Unseen felines to seen.

Before devoting herself to Dream Pet Care, Kelly served for 25 years at two different higher education colleges serving first as Section Supervisor for the Development and College Relations department managing the accounts receivable donation process, the Raiser's Edge fundraising software system and documenting the steps in a technical manual at Southern Polytechnic State University which was founded after World War II on October 8, 1947, with its first classes in March of 1948 on the site of a Naval Air Station in Chamblee, Georgia later moved to Marietta and housed on part of Dobbins Air Reserve Base. It merged with Kennesaw State University in 2015.

She then served as IT Coordinator for the Executive Education department managing the internal SalesLogix and Salesforce systems while being a bridge to the campus departments of marketing, accounting, information technology, and the registrar's office to support the sales team, manage the in-office rankings process for the Financial Times and BusinessWeek as well as creating multiple processes based on her initially learning the campus accounting software, Datatel and then teaching several other team members to take it over as well as handled the trouble-shooting with the IT department as the only person on campus with in depth working knowledge of the campus's three main computer systems at the Thunderbird School of Global Management chartered on April 8, 1946 with first graduating class in 1947 after being a decommissioned World War II era US Army Air Forces base known as Thunderbird Field 1. It merged with Arizona State University in 2014.

Kelly self-published a book in 2014 called Are You Picking Up Your Messages which was about her journey from 2010 through her employment at Thunderbird and into her first year being self-employed – and the messages she encountered. She has written a book that will be published this year that takes the reader on a journey of what healing looks like, working with the animals and spirit to hear her heart to learn about self-love. It will be published in the spring of this year by Transcendent Publishing.

Kelly's passion is in continuing to dig deeper beneath the surface for her own healing while continuing to step into the new creating fresh neural pathways and learnings for her body, mind, and soul. She loves hiking and working with nature, the animals, and spirit to open herself to even greater understanding, awareness, and love.

She resides in Glendale, Arizona near her family and can be reached at www.kellyvizzini.com or via email at admin@kellyvizzini.com
